- Thousands of guitar exercises - Light, intuitive and easy to use - 10 different programmes for beginners, intermediate or advanced guitarists - Thousands of different exercises

GuitarTrainer offers the fastest way to develop your playing skills and enhance your ability to read music.

There are 10 different programmes designed for beginner to advanced musicians, with each programme including 10 different training programmes. This means that you can learn to play in the easiest way until you are ready to learn all of the other options that are available on GuitarTrainer. The 'basic' programme is completely free. You don't have to buy anything to start learning to play the guitar, it's just a great way to start and you'll learn in a way that will make you want to play more and more. It has 60 exercises and 5 different routines to learn to play in different positions.

GuitarTrainer has 10 'other' programmes that are priced individually. You can learn to play the guitar, bass and write your own music, play theory, learn to read music, learn to play with a band, etc. Each of these programmes will cost you a small amount but are very valuable tools for the serious guitar player. There are 5 different 'training' programmes. You can learn to read music, study chords, play blues, play jazz and play with chords. These are great ways to develop your skills and should be part of your practice before you start learning how to play a real song. They're priced individually as well. By combining all these different options, you can learn to play the guitar in any situation that you may find yourself. For the guitarist who wants to be an entertainer, the 'training' programmes will prepare you for the important skill of being able to read music and play with chords. The 'other' and 'basic' programmes will teach you the easy way of playing songs or to learn some technique that you may need to play solo, with a band or make music with friends.

Interactive GuitarTrainer is about teaching you to play the guitar, not mastering a song.

Most traditional music schools will insist that you learn to play songs before playing with others. Your band won't play a song they've never heard before, it will sound boring. That's why interactive GuitarTrainer is designed to teach you how to play songs quickly, so that you can learn in the easiest way until you are ready to learn the other options that are available on

GuitarTrainer. Your journey
