Photoshop CS6 is released and is the first version of Photoshop that uses the latest generation of the Adobe's innovative texture rendering engine called "ArtFlow" to create extremely realistic surfaces and texture in your images. This makes them look better than they have ever looked before. In addition to the new features that come with Photoshop CC (such as the Select and the Pen Tool) you will also get a new retouching tool that will allow you to slim your portrait — regardless of scale. This new tool is called Portfolio and it will work like the retouching tool for Photoshop CS5. Since Photoshop CS5 - CS 6 comes in 1, 2 or 1, 2, 3 versions, the version of this tool is up to you. With this latest update, CS6 adds new features to enhance your artwork. In addition, it features enhancements related to pixels, performance and support for Windows 8.1. This latest update also includes the new Dual Native View technology that makes both Photoshop and Lightroom CS6 run faster on Windows 8.1. Dual Native View enables CS6 to utilize the GPU for calculations when resizing images. This can be helpful for less-powerful hardware. This Photoshop update includes two new features. Firstly the new brushes feature is integrated into the brushes tool. With this update you can now grab brush presets or create new custom brushes. Secondly, you can now change your filters with a pinch gesture or use a gesture that lets you capture a small part of your screen. You can also use the side buttons to exit the filter-setting area.

Layers are often used to control the amount of work that needs to be completed in one go (in this case when using the eraser tool). When you start editing a photo, you will need to create a new layer with the top of your photo. Then add anything that you want to apply to the photo in that layer, for instance color. Finally, move that layer below the photo. This way it's easy to edit all of the content at once. When using the layers panel, you can change the opacity of the layer, remove the layer, or delete the layer all from the trash can in the bottom left corner of the panel.
